

The lunatic asylum, already bursting with patients who succumbed to the strain of calculating the income tax, may now expect a vast new pressure from the people who have had to make, read and travel by the new spring, conflicting state-law, double-time, railroad time-tables.—Life.

The Man of Law—But, my dear madam, there is no insurance money for you to draw. Your late husband never insured his life; he only had a policy against fire.

Bamboo is split into phonograph needles by machinery at the rate of 10,000 needles an hour and another machine into which they are fed by hand, can sharpen 30,000 in a day.

BOY ON BICYCLE IS STRUCK BY MOTOR CAR

Alexander Sutherland, 16, who is employed in the job department of The Republican, was painfully and perhaps seriously injured about 6:30 o'clock last evening when the motor-bicycle he was riding was struck by a Ford automobile driven by Mrs. A. D. Snow of Thomas and Orange roads. The accident occurred at Roosevelt and Center streets, and when the boy was hit, it is said that he was dragged about 20 feet and then thrown against another automobile driven by F. J. Paddock, 633 North Third avenue, damaging the fender.

According to witnesses of the accident, young Sutherland was riding south on Center street when Mrs. Adams, driving a Ford, and going west on Roosevelt street collided with him at the street intersection.

An ambulance was called immediately and Sutherland who was seen to be badly injured was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he was attended by Dr. Charles S. Vivian. An examination disclosed that the boy had received injuries to his head, back and knees, but their extent could not be ascertained last night.

Sutherland lives with his parents at the intersection of the Indian School road and Center street. His motor-wheel was completely destroyed.

DISTINCTIVE SLEEVES DECREE OF FASHION

NEW YORK—There is much ado about sleeves. They may be long or short, wide or narrow, but they must be distinctive.

Of the very abbreviated models two are shown. The sleeves at the left, finished with the double ruffle, are very full with the gathers evenly distributed around the armhole so that the material pouches a trifle over the velvet ribbon band even at the underarm seam.

The second sleeve belongs to a simple checked serge frock. The tiny sleeves are cut with a little fullness which is distributed across the top and then put into a band of white flannel, like the soft, scalloped, turn-over collar that finishes the neck. The band itself is made double and so seamed that it flares out and away from the arm, which is a new feature.
